WE'RE FOR AMERICA! AMERICANS!

DEMOCRATIC DOCTRINE.

VIEWS OF SAMUEL J. TILDEN ON UNSOUND FINANCE.

Tilden's Letter of Acceptance, 1876.

Uncertainty is the prolific parent of mischief in all business. Man do nothing, because they are unable to make any calculations on which they may safely rely. They undertake nothing, because they fear a loss in everything they would attempt.

They hope and wait. The merchant does not buy for the future consumption of his customer. The manufacturer does not make fabrics which may not refund his outlay. He shuts his factory and discharges his workmen. Capitalists cannot lend on security they consider unsafe, and their funds lie almost without interest. Men of enterprise who have credit or securities to pledge will not borrow. The people need to know that the Government is moving in the direction of ultimate safety and prosperity, and that it is doing so through prudent, safe and conservative methods which will be sure to inflict no new sacrifice on the business of the country. Thus the aspiration of new life and well founded confidence will hasten the restoring process of nature and prosperity will begin to return.

WHAT IS WANTED.

BUSINESS AND NOT FREE-SILVER THE GREAT NEED.

Colored Robert G. Ingersoll.

We want more business. Talk about Charity! Business is the finest charity ever conceived. Business that feeds the hungry, that clothes the naked; business that wipes the tears from widow's eyes and orphan's cheek; business that puts smiles of joy in the cheeks of sorrow; business that puts a roof above the heads of the homeless; business that fills the world with art and song; with commerce; the land with happy homes; that we want is not charity; we do not want popular philanthropy. We don't want that philosophy and we don't want any silver swindles. We want business. That is what we want. Wind and water are our servants. Let them work. Lightning and steam are our slaves. Let them tell. Start the fires and let labor, with its countless hands, have work, and where there is work there is no want. That is what I want. I want Protection and Property. I want good sense and business. Do not deceive us with de-based coin. Give us good money, the lifeblood of business, and let it flow in freely through the veins and arteries of commerce. That is what we want business.

The Ledger's Leaflets—No. 31.

"Railroad rates have not been reduced to keep pace with the fall of prices. . . . The farmer has thus found complaint against the gold standard."—Bryan's Madison Square Garden Speech.

Henry W. Poor, the celebrated statistician, who is recognized by everybody as the authority on railroad rates, shows in a recent publication that the average price for moving freight by rail has been reduced from 2.21 cents per ton per mile in 1873 to 83-100 of a cent per ton per mile in 1895. This is a reduction of 62 per cent. in average rates of freight. The average price of No. 2 spring wheat in Chicago during the year 1873, as reported in the official report of the Chicago Board of Trade, was $1 18 per bushel in currency, equivalent to $1 04 in gold. The same grade of wheat is selling today in Chicago for 68 cents, thus being a reduction in selling price of wheat since 1873 of only 34 per cent. Thus while the gold price of wheat has fallen 34 per cent. since 1873, the railroad freight rates have fallen 62 per cent.

The Ledger's Leaflets—No. 32.

"Bimetallism is indorsed by human history. The gold standard has nothing to indorse it except the misery which wherever it has been tried."—Bryan's Cleveland Speech.

The sort of bimetallism which Mr. Bryan propose is that which prevails today in Mexico, South America, Central America and China. The people of Mexico have a per capita of money in circulation amounting to $4 95; those of Central America $3 66; those of South America $2 94, exclusive of their irredeemable paper currency; and those of China $2 08. The gold standard Nations have a per capita circulation of from $10 to $35 each. Does that look as though "bimetallism is indorsed by human history, and the gold standard has nothing to indorse it except the misery which follows wherever it has been tried?"

"As soon as the Bland Act went into force the enemies of free silver proceeded to repeal the Bland Act, and left nothing in its place. But the silver sentiment grew until 1890, and in that year the opponents of free coinage, being afraid of a free coinage bill, secured another compromise, which was known as the Sherman Law."—Bryan's Columbus Speech.

Mr. Bryan says: "As soon as the Bland Act went into force the enemies of free silver proceeded to repeal the Bland Act." The Bland Act went into operation February 28th, 1878, and continued in operation over twelve years. During that period over fifty times as many silver dollars were coined as had been coined in the eighty-one years preceding the act of 1873. This was accompanied by a constant fall in the price of silver until the bullion in a silver dollar was worth about 70 cents. Mr. Bryan says: "They proceeded to repeal the Bland Law, but left nothing in its place." The very act which repealed it put the Sherman Law in its place, although he adds in the same breath that "The silver sentiment grew until 1890, and in that year the opponents of free coinage, being afraid of the passage of a free coinage bill, secured another compromise, which was known as the Sherman Law." By this distortion of facts, well known to everybody who has given the question any attention, Mr. Bryan attempts to deceive those who are not familiar with the subject.

There is no joy in this world equal to the happiness of motherhood. A woman's health is her dearest possession. Good looks, good sense, happiness, love and its continuation, depend on her health. Almost all of the diseases of women is traceable directly or indirectly to some derangement of the organs of the female system. Troubles of this kind are often neglected because a very natural and proper modesty keeps women away from physicians, whose mistaken upon examination and local treatment is generally as useless as is common. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will do more for them than 50 doctors to 100. It will do more than the hundred doctor can unless he prescribes it. It is a prescription of Dr. J. C. Pierce, who for 30 years has been chief consulting physician of the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Home, at Buffalo, N. Y.

Miss Anna Best, a very charming young lady of near Augusta, died at 8 o'clock Wednesday.

Please notice our new proposition. We will accept advertisements for that mammoth Election Edition, payable only in case McKinley is elected. Surely every Republican will feel good enough to pay for an advertisement in that event; and those of our friends who are so kind as to give of Bryan's election a gasp-like clench on getting a free advertisement along with their free silver.

If your children are subject to croup watch for the first symptom of the disease—hoarseness. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse it will prevent the attack. Even after the croupy cough has appeared the attack can always be prevented by giving this remedy. It is also invaluable for colds and whooping cough. For sale by J. James Wood, Druggist.

CLEVELAND

Makes an Address to Princeton Students, Alumni and Others.

Time for Patriots to Stand as One Against Insidious Doctrines.

Our Universities should Attempt to Prevent and Correct Popular Delusions—Sufferings of the People—Change National Laws.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 23.—At the sesquicentennial celebration of the founding of Princeton college, Thursday, President Cleveland, who had been invited to address the students, alumni, and various dignitaries of the church and state, departed somewhat from the line that he was expected to follow.

In fact, he created a sensation by nullifying the opportunity to make the first public utterance since the present presidential campaign began, of opinions concerning political affairs. The address was in part as follows:

Mr. President and friends:—As those in different occupations and with different training see most plainly in the same landscape, so those who are the most nearly related to their several habitual environments, so, in our contemplation of an event as a session, each individual especially observes and appreciates in the light he made of thought, supplies, each of its features and incidents as are most in harmony with his mental situation.

To-day, while all of us warmly share the general enthusiasm and festivity which pervade this assemblage, I am sure of official policies and preferences. These are in variety of college have had an opportunity to study the mission of our institutions, and who in the light of the history have learned the danger to a people of their neglect of the patriotic cause.

They own the national life entrusted to their keeping, should be well fitted to constantly admonish their fellow citizens that the usefulness and beneficence of their plan of government can only be preserved through their own selfish and loving support, and their conscientious willingness to accept in full return the peace, protection and opportunity which it impartially bestows.

I do not forget the practical necessity of admitting their fellow citizens that the usefulness and beneficence of their plan of government can only be preserved through their own selfish and loving support, and their conscientious willingness to accept in full return the peace, protection and opportunity which it impartially bestows.

AN OVATION

Given Princess Helene, the Princess of the Crown of Italy in Rome. Rome, Oct. 23.—Princess Helene, of Montenegro, the affianced bride of the prince of Naples, whose marriage to the crown prince of Italy will take place on October 30, arrived here at 11 o'clock Thursday forenoon, accompanied by the members of her family, who were present at the wedding. From an early hour in the morning until the arrival of the princess from the railway station to the Piazza di Quirinale were crowded with people, and along the entire route there was a profuse display of Italian and Montenegro flags. The Piazza Termini had been transformed into a huge amphitheater, capable of accommodating 100,000 persons, and this was filled to overflowing.

Included in the vast crowd which awaited the arrival of the princess outside the station were a large number of the societies of Rome and the provinces, with bands of music and the flying flags and other features which were the most nearly related to their several habitual environments, so, in our contemplation of an event as a session, each individual especially observes and appreciates in the light he made of thought, supplies, each of its features and incidents as are most in harmony with his mental situation.

To-day, while all of us warmly share the general enthusiasm and festivity which pervade this assemblage, I am sure of official policies and preferences. These are in variety of college have had an opportunity to study the mission of our institutions, and who in the light of the history have learned the danger to a people of their neglect of the patriotic cause.

FOREIGN TRADE.

Strikingly Similar to What It Was the Latter Part of 1879.

Once More the World Seems to Be Hungry for Our Grain.

There is a Pressing Demand for Shippers and Heavy Tonnage for the Export of Grain—The Grain Trade for the Winter and Spring.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 23.—The Manufacturers Record of this week in reviewing business conditions says: The condition of our foreign trade at present is strikingly similar to what it was in the summer and fall of 1879. Prior to that year the average exports of wheat had been about 65,000,000 bushels a year, rising in 1878 to 90,000,000 bushels. But about this time the European crop was unusually short and for several years we had a phenomenal foreign demand for wheat and corn. In 1879 the export of wheat and corn advanced to 147,000,000 bushels; in 1880 to 139,750,000 bushels, and in 1881 to 168,000,000 bushels. Under this enormous European buying prices rose from $1.06, the average export price in 1879, to $1.34 in 1880, $1.11 in 1881, and $1.19 in 1882.

But for this unprecedented European demand, that no one foresaw the enormous demand for wheat and corn would have inevitably have brought extremely low prices.

Making a comparison of five-year per cent the value of the wheat and corn exports for five years ended June 30, 1883, was $860,972,493 against $1,817,500 for the preceding five years, a gain of over $950,000,000. The increased value of corn exports for the same period was about $300,000,000, making a total gain in grain exports in five years of $650,000,000 over the preceding five years. This enormous increase in foreign exports completely changed all business conditions, burdened our seaports with vessels and resulted in great and unforeseen importations of grain.

Once more the world seems to be hungry for our grain. A short supply in Europe and India has brought about a heavy demand for wheat and corn. Not many months ago foreign ship owners were unable to find employment for their vessels and hundreds of "ocean tramps" were lying in British harbors. Now there is a pressing demand for shippers and every vessel that can carry grain is being chartered.

Charterers have been made for ships covering the entire winter and some cases late into the spring. At Baltimore alone over one hundred steamers have been chartered in advance of arrival to load grain. This alone represents a tonnage of 1,000,000 bushels of grain for which room has been engaged at the port. At every other port on the Atlantic and Gulf coast the same thing is going on, and the aggregate engagements already made foot over 50,000,000 bushels. On the Pacific coast the same thing is being done, and a heavy demand for shippers and every vessel that can carry grain is being chartered.

ANOTHER LIE HAILED.

ISCHOSTOLIN, E. E. Oct. 22d, 1894.

To the Public Ledger: The Democrats have reported that we tried to organize a McKinley Club at this place and failed.

We wish to deny this and brand it as another campaign lie.

We have pulled the village and find it 17 to 4 in favor of McKinley.

This evening, out of 13 voters that were in the Postoffice at one time only one was for Bryan.

Send Judge Philpot out to speak for us Friday night and then we will be sold for McKinley.

The Darington, Wis., Journal says editorially of a popular patent medicine: "We know from experience that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is all that is claimed for it, as on two occasions it has cured excruciating pains and possibly saved us from an uneasy grave. We would not rest easy over night without it in the house." This remedy undoubtedly saves more pain and suffering than any other medicine in the world. Every family should keep it in the house, for it is sure to be needed sooner or later. For sale by J. James Wood, Drugist.

Massacre Part of an Austrian Scientific Expedition.

The Party Were Attacked on the Island of Guadalcanar, One of the Solomon Group—The Austrian Fleet Put the Bushmen to Flight.

San Francisco, Oct. 23.—News of the massacre of part of an Austrian scientific party on the island of Guadalcanar, in the Solomon group, reached this city Thursday by the steamer Monowai. The party left Sydney to cruise about and visit the Solomon islands in scientific research many the Australian man-of-war Albion. They had visited all the isles, except Guadalcanar, on which there is a mountain called the Lion's Head. The party wanted to reach the summit and hired native guides. They started for the summit on the 15th of August. In the party were Baron Foulon von Norbeck, Lieut. Budik, 20 sailors, two midshipmen, two servants and two native guides. After two days' march one of the midshipmen and seven sailors returned, as they became too fatigued to proceed further. The day they left the camp the baron, Lieut. Budik, seven sailors and two servants started up the mountain. Several bushmen met on the way joined the expedition, but as they were without arms, no particular attention was paid to them. The baron was near the top of the mountain, and he heard the top of the mountain, a bushman, who appeared to be a chief, was with the party. As he appeared two shots were fired lower down the mountain from the direction of the camp. The shots seemed to be a signal for the chief to attack the baron's party. Bushmen from a score of places at once rushed out and the baron was struck on the neck with a tomahawk, while a crowd of bushmen attacked the rest of the party with clubs. The native who had been with the baron was promptly shot by a sailor. Lieut. Budik also put his revolver to good use. One sailor had to protect himself with a tomahawk he had wrested from a native. The other sailors were well armed and the bushmen finally had to retreat to the tools, many of them wounded. The baron was the only one of the party badly hurt. At first it was thought he would recover, but he gradually sank after he had walked back to camp and died in three hours.

THE RISE IN WHEAT.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The secretary of agriculture Thursday gave expression to the following regarding the recent rise in wheat:

"The price of wheat in Chicago and New York markets during the last 90 days is about 90 cents a bushel. This, on a crop of 450,000,000 bushels makes $405,000,000. And at least two hundred million bushels of this wheat are now in the hands of American farmers. Thus in less than sixty days wheat has risen in value from 75 cents a bushel to 90 cents a bushel, a rise of 15 cents, or 20 per cent. This is a rise in value of $75,000,000, which is a sum of money that has been made for the producers about forty million of dollars."

Decline in the Price of Wheat.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Dollars wheat was further off by several degrees Thursday morning than it was Wednesday. The rapidity with which prices declined downward at the opening of the market Thursday was quite as great as that attending any stage of the advance. Wednesday's curb was weak, a light crop drop from the regular close taking place. Yet lower figures were quoted at the start Thursday, December opening from 74 1/2 to 75 1/2, and quickly declining to 75 1/2.

The baron was near the top of the mountain, and he heard the top of the mountain, a bushman, who appeared to be a chief, was with the party. As he appeared two shots were fired lower down the mountain from the direction of the camp. The shots seemed to be a signal for the chief to attack the baron's party. Bushmen from a score of places at once rushed out and the baron was struck on the neck with a tomahawk, while a crowd of bushmen attacked the rest of the party with clubs. The native who had been with the baron was promptly shot by a sailor. Lieut. Budik also put his revolver to good use. One sailor had to protect himself with a tomahawk he had wrested from a native. The other sailors were well armed and the bushmen finally had to retreat to the tools, many of them wounded. The baron was the only one of the party badly hurt. At first it was thought he would recover, but he gradually sank after he had walked back to camp and died in three hours.
